

Merger of Detectives And Police Department Referred to Committee

Couch Now Favors Merger, More Power for the Chief, and Election of "Supervisor."

Both Ordinance and Substitute Are Again Shifted Back to the Police Committee

City council, again finding itself unwilling at its meeting Monday afternoon to act on abolishing the detective department, referred the proposed ordinance and a substitute back to the police committee.

It was returned to a committee that last week advised it by the vote of 3 to 1. Councilman J. A. Couch, the member who refused to join in killing it, gave notice that he would introduce a substitute in council. The council voted 15 to 1 to send his substitute to the police committee, and took the same action on the original resolution, which had been introduced by Councilman Walter A. Sims and which the committee had already advised. The text of the two papers is different but their purpose is practically identical.

The Couch Substitute.
Councilman Couch's substitute called for merging the police and detective forces under the chief of the police department, the doing away with the offices of first and second assistant chiefs, the posts now held respectively by Chief of Detectives Poole and Night Police Chief Jett, and in their places the creation of a position to be known as "supervisor," this officer to be nominated by the chief and elected by the police board. His salary would be $225 a month.

Under provisions of the councilman's substitute the detectives would be transferred to patrol duty on the police force, and the chief given power to detail men in plain clothes at his discretion.

"If the chief can be made any more the chief of police than he is now this substitute will do it," declared the councilman in speaking on his paper.

Sims' Resolution.
Councilman Sims' resolution called on the council to abolish the detective department and place the men in uniform under the police chief.
Councilman Couch had fought the Sims resolution in council. His substitute was seconded by Alder-

The movement Monday afternoon for further delay was led by Councilman Robert H. Jones and Councilman J. R. Nutting. They said the proposal was too important to be voted on without more study and also urged police committee consideration of the substitute. Councilman Sims offered a motion that each member of council be furnished with a copy of the substitute. It was adopted.

The police committee will take up the question again at its next meeting two weeks from now.

BLAMES PROHIBITION FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

New Orleans, La., September 5.—Too drastic prohibition and the housing situation are to blame for much of the unemployment through-

"The prohibition law should be modified," said Representative O'Connor.

"Thousands were shut out of employment by the passage of the Volstead Act, and its modification would do much to improve labor conditions."

Mr. O'Connor decried the idea that he had been "taken for a prohibitionist" because he had not loudly inveighed on behalf of the

HARDWICK LAUDS AMERICAN LABOR IN SAVANNAH TALK

Savannah, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Governor Hardwick was given a great reception on his visit to Savannah for the week-end and especially was his Labor day address at the fair grounds of the Tri-State exposition this afternoon given cordial attention. His address was one in which optimism was the spirit and co-operation the objective of his argument.

He felicitated Savannah as a city, and particularly the labor organizations of Savannah upon their better-than-average showing in the trials of reconstructive times. He paid fine tribute to American labor generally and declared that he believed the time is steadily coming when labor will have definite share in the direction and profits of industrial and manufacturing enterprises. He intimated that this consummation will be one of probably several decades ahead and in the meantime it may be expected that there will be frequent clashes and friction.

He said that American labor is rightfully entitled to a fair margin over and above the expenses of living in comfort. His address met with the approval of the audience generally and he was frequently cheered enthusiastically.

Governor Hardwick arrived here yesterday morning, spent the day with friends on the river and about the harbor, and this evening was honor guest at a dinner.

CHARLES MYERS TELLS OF VALUE OF ADVERTISING

Charles W. Myers, advertising manager of Morris & Co., Chicago packers, arrived in Atlanta yesterday on a tour of southern cities in the interest of his firm and spent a busy day.

He was one of the speakers at the big barbecue given at the waterworks Monday by the Atlanta Retail Food Dealers in honor of Francis E. Kampfer, president of the National Retail Grocers' association, and Tuesday he will be the guest of the Atlanta Rotary club at the noonday luncheon.

While here he is being entertained by P. B. Randall, Mr. Kampfer and the heads of the Food Dealers' association. President Harold R. Kistner, Vice President E. G. Aiken, and Secretary A. V. Bergen.

Mr. Myers is a great believer in the value of advertising and especially in the value of advertising and boosting the advantages of young home town.

"Advertising," he says, "is the very spirit of current events. There is, however, still a little of the effects of pessimism existing in the business world. Don't listen to it. It has done its worst and we are rounding the corner to gradually improving times. It is a little bit true saying that 'Prosperity's right hand is industry and her left hand is thrift.' To learn from adverse conditions, then bid them be gone, is the sensible thing."

"Be a booster like attracts like; business begets business. Boost the Onward Atlanta idea. Brighten up your displays. Feature advertised brands; keep the public constantly informed of your newest and latest offerings. Know where you are all the time and conduct your business accordingly. And let me repeat: Advertise regularly and believe in Atlanta."

Meeting Closes.
Juliette, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—The several days' meeting of the Central Missionary Baptist association, which came to a close this week at Bethel Baptist church, was one of the most enthusiastic and successful gatherings of its kind ever held in Jasper county. Delegates and visitors from the Baptist churches in Jones, Putnam, Newton and Jasper counties composing the association were in attendance in large numbers. Several thousand were present Monday. Mr. Silvers, of Eatonton, was elected moderator, and S. Womack, of Monticello, clerk of the association for next year.

DIXIE MERCHANTS THROUGH ATLANTA

Monday marked the beginning of "Merchants' week" in Atlanta, and indications from the first day of activities seem to point to a season of unprecedented prosperity and enthusiasm. Prominent merchants from various parts of the south are already in attendance, and it is expected that several hundred will arrive before the end of the week.

Wholesale and jobbing houses of the city have filled their salesrooms to capacity with full lines of fall and winter stocks, attractive arrangements for convenience of prospective buyers. Individual firms have met with their respective distinguished special features in displays.

The week promises to be far superior in results to similar occasions of past years. It is pointed out that Atlanta, with its unsurpassed railroad and transportation facilities, its central location and its unenviable place in southern industry and commerce, is the logical distributing point for the south.

The names of many prominent prospective buyers from all parts of the south are contained on a list of those who have signified their intention of visiting Atlanta during the week. Many of them have already arrived, while it is expected the others will arrive during the next few days.

On Wednesday the visiting buyers will be given a barbecue at Lake-wood, J. R. Little, of the Dougherty-Little-Redwine company, will be in charge of the function, and it is announced that there will be food in abundance for everyone. This event will be the outstanding social affair of the week.

CORNERSTONE IS LAID FOR MASONIC TEMPLE

The cornerstone of the new temple of Masonic lodge No. 640 was laid at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon with impressive ceremonies. Charles L. Bass, grand master of the lodge, presided and delivered the only address.

The structure will be known as "Capitol View Lodge," because of the fact that it is on a hill directly overlooking the state capitol building. It is located at the corner of Stewart avenue and Bill street.

The building will be completed and ready for use in about three months, as work is being rushed to completion. The lodge membership is composed of about 650 prominent Masons.

One of the most beautiful in the city. It is being constructed of brick and granite.

Following the address by Grand Master Bass at the ceremonies Monday afternoon, a musical program was rendered. Many prominent Masons, their friends and families were present.

McConnell presided.

Stevenson, Freak Editor, Is Needed in Athens To Pass on Potato

Athens, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—W. L. Cooksey, a Clarke county farmer, was exhibiting in Athens Monday a Porto Rican sweet potato weighing seven pounds. Mr. Cooksey has six acres of these, all of which are very large.

In addition to the potato crop, he has on his small farm 100 acres of corn, 15 acres of velvet beans and four acres of peas. There is not a stalk of cotton on the entire farm, this being one of the few farms in Clarke county where cotton has been entirely abolished.

to reach the mine were turned back by the miners.

More than 200 miners went on strike at Rosiclare last November. Last week four miners and company detectives were shot when a general fight started. Since then daily clashes have occurred.

Miners guards also have been left in Rosiclare. The mine is operated by the Hillside Fluorspar company, as it is at Rosiclare.

Americianization Remedy.

Americus, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Most of the disturbances in the West Virginia mine area can be traced to the large foreign element living there, and Americanization is the only remedy for existing conditions, according to W. H. Estes, an American man, who has been traveling in that territory the past year or two.

A majority of the miners, Estes says, are foreigners, speaking their several native tongues and continuing their European customs. During the war, and for some time following, many of them made big money, and their business depression which resulted in a reduction of these unusual earnings, caused much dissatisfaction among them.

The disturbers, Estes says, lost one of their prominent leaders in the death of Sid Hatfield.

DENIES KIDNAPING.

Paducah, Ky., September 5.—Denial that J. C. Swanson, an other employee of the Hillside Flour Spar company, had been captured by striking miners, was made tonight by W. G. Ferguson, superintendent of the Hillside mines, in a telephone message to a newspaper here.

Mr. Ferguson declared Rosiclare was quiet and there had been no trouble since Saturday except a few local fights Sunday night. He also denied any man by the name of Swanson was employed by his company.

According to Mr. Ferguson's statement all the union miners had left Elizabethtown, where they had been camped for ten days, and the situation had been "cleared up."

ably during the day. Wiggins also had been drinking some. It was said, Caldwell had grown very boisterous late in the afternoon, it is claimed.

How Fight Started.

According to a statement made to the police by Wiggins, he went to Caldwell's room and remonstrated with him shortly before 7 o'clock. Caldwell is said to have followed Wiggins across the sitting room to the room of the latter, where a quarrel ensued, during which Wiggins fired twice. Grady physicians found two wounds on the man.

Officers examined the premises at the Mitchell street address very carefully.

The odor of liquor in Caldwell's room was unmistakable, it is said, and a search revealed a half-pint concealed in a drawer.

Before losing consciousness from the shooting Caldwell removed his bloody overalls and when the ambulance arrived he was in his underwear. A large pool of blood was on the floor near where he had collapsed.

Wiggins was held at police station on a blanket charge of disorderly conduct. He did not seem to realize the seriousness of his predicament, and laughed and joked with attaches at headquarters.

Caldwell is a plumber by trade. He is said to have lived at the Burt apartment for several months. Wiggins is caretaker of the apartments, and is also employed by George Ware, business broker. He has lived in Atlanta about twelve years.

SPANISH ARTILLERY IS SHELLING MOORS

Mellila, September 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Moorish positions near this city have been heavily shelled, and the Spanish artillerymen have been laying down heavy bombardments of shells around the rough, south of here. Two captured Spanish cannon with the Moors have been rendered useless, according to reports received here.

The gunners in charge of the cannon were punished by death, while the captives of the execution were the blocks were restored.

Native reports state that eight or four Spanish prisoners taken at Mellila have been taken into the rear under escort of 400 Riflemen. Twenty-eight other prisoners taken at Mellila are reported to have been killed. The sick and wounded are being taken to the rear. Several French military aircraft were seen in the air over the city. They have also been seen in the air over the city of Morocco.

The civilian population which numbered about 25,000 before the approach of the Moors has been somewhat decreased, but large numbers of those who have fled from the city are now in the area surrounding the city on the land side is a dangerous place for civilians, who rarely venture there to bring supplies to the city.

Would Dedicate 1921 Labor Day To Help Jobless

Detroit, September 5.—Dedication of Labor Day, 1921, to the relief of the nation's unemployed was proposed by Secretary of Labor Davis today in an address to the workers of Detroit.

In the past Labor Day has been a holiday in honor of the man who toiled, declared Secretary Davis. This year it is a day that millions of our people would rather celebrate, not by taking a holiday, but by going back to work at a job. Labor Day this year dawned on a situation that calls to every loyal American for the best thought, the mightiest effort and the strongest faith he can summon. This year Labor Day must be dedicated first of all to meeting this imperative human need of the day.

The dedication of the day to the relief of the unemployed, estimated by the labor secretary to number nearly six million, should carry with it, he said, a concerted effort on the part of all Americans, be they employers or employees. As measures of partial relief the secretary proposed the undertaking of public works, the distribution of work in mills "so that all may have jobs for at least part of the week," and the shaking off of fear and the taking on of faith and courage.

"Above all else we need to speak of fear and take on faith and courage," Mr. Davis asserted. "For the lack of that courage we are neglecting any number of large undertakings that would give work to the great stalled engine of American production."

The secretary in his address directed a message to the employers of the nation, declaring:

"Don't set your wages by the hungry crowd at the gate to your mill. That is only a temporary wage. During the war the pendulum swung over to the side of the employees. Now it has swung back to your side. Play fair now and you will do more to stabilize your business and bring good feeling than anything else you can do. Keep in mind the fact that those men who are swarming around your gates looking for work are the same human beings as yourself. They have the same aspirations, own the same families that you have for years. Regulate matters now for the future and play the part of far-sighted wisdom."

To labor the secretary held out the assurance that "in spite of the occasional 'hard-boiled' employer, no true American business man entertains a serious thought of crushing the workers' organizations."

"Let the open shop mean what it says—open to all," he added. "Any employer knows that crushing the unions cannot be done in the first place, he knows that it would not be safe in any case. We want no Russia in this country, no hordes of disorganized, leaderless men, ready to follow a state of starvation that charity must go to their aid."

Opposition to the principle of the living wage also was expressed by Mr. Davis.

"I am against the living wage," he said. "It is not enough. We need to hear something of the saving wage. It is not enough for the man merely to exist, to meet the cost of living, whatever it is, to buy food and buy clothing and clothing for his family. A man like the American workman needs, he needs, and he demands something more than that. He wants to save and he should and must be able to do it."

FORREST PLANNING
REUNION PROGRAM

Chattanooga, Tenn., September 5.—General Nathan Bedford Forrest, commander-in-chief of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, arrived here this morning and spent the forenoon in conference with the local committee to arrange for the reunion of the U. S. V. association to be held here October 25.

A tentative program and the appointment of sponsors were the questions considered at the conference. One of the features of the program, it was decided, will be a night parade, something after the order of one given by the Order of the Imperial Palace of this city. The committee also began active work this morning and indications point to a most successful reunion despite the limited time in which to make preparations.

GIRL IS MURDERED

Knoxville, Tenn., September 5.—A 10-year-old girl was taken early Saturday morning from the second story of her parents' home, where she was asleep, to a mining town in Harlan county, Kentucky, and there attacked and murdered it became known here today. Bloodhounds put on the trail of the murderer lost it at the railroad tracks. Two suspects are held. Popular feeling is said to be intense.

PROTEST CUTTING NUMBER OF NAMES FOR THE JURY BOX

Sylvania, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—About three hundred citizens of Screven met at the courthouse here today and entered a protest by resolution against the recent action of the jury revisers in dropping two-thirds of the names from the jury box.

The meeting was called to order by W. J. Walker, S. C. Jenkins was elected chairman and S. H. Howell, secretary. After a number of talks resolutions were unanimously adopted requesting Judge H. B. Strauss to pass an order requiring the revisers to reopen the revision and supplement the list already made until at least one-half the voters who are eligible for jury duty be placed upon the jury list.

It seems that the jury revisers reduced the number in the jury box from about nine hundred to three hundred and nineteen and it is claimed that this will not be sufficient number in certain cases and might require a change of venue.

The new body of jury revisers, who were appointed by Judge A. B. Lovett, of the superior court, while on the bench, have chosen a better moment, calling "the old master," is showing signs of restlessness. He has made a speech at Corsica in defense of the Versailles treaty. Now the announcement is made that in collaboration with Tardieu, Mandel and Ignace, he is going to edit a new magazine, the first issue of which will be published in November.

If the Tiger actually is planning his re-entry into the political field, he could hardly choose a better moment. Briand's position is weak. His minister of finance is under fire on all sides as a result of the financial agreements with Germany, and the press is clamoring for resignations.

The anniversary of the Marne has been seized in some quarters for the launching of a bitter attack against the premier, accusing him of a vacillating policy on every major international issue.

Many government forces appear to be rallying to the Tiger's lead, ready to go over the top with him the moment parliament reconvenes in October.

As for Clemenceau's magazine, the Tiger has repeatedly declared that having started four papers in his lifetime, he would never start another. But now he admits that the present situation has led him into a temptation too great to resist.

Liberte, recalling the old paper, L'Homme Enchaîné, which was a war-time sensation, wants to know whether Clemenceau will call it the Unchained Tiger. And only Alfred Capus, in The Gaulois, is at all kind in referring to the new project. He says:

"An am convinced that if Clemenceau sneaks again, it will be from the height of his experience. We have nothing to fear from his advice. Doesn't Poincaré exercise the right to speak—daily, with admirable frankness, and in striking fashion? Clemenceau's position is similar. He will be heard with the same instant curiosity."

Tiger Clemenceau Indicates Re-entry Into Public Life

BY HUDSON HAWLEY,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Paris, September 5.—There is a big cloud on the political horizon of France, and it is getting bigger every minute. The Tiger, Clemenceau, whom the socialists are jeeringly calling "the old master," is showing signs of restlessness. He has made a speech at Corsica in defense of the Versailles treaty. Now the announcement is made that in collaboration with Tardieu, Mandel and Ignace, he is going to edit a new magazine, the first issue of which will be published in November.

BODY OF DOUGLAS
WAR VICTIM IN U. S.

Douglas, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—News reached the city today that the body of Joe Gaskin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Father Refuses Burial for Body Of Soldier Son Keeps Casket of Returned Hero in Home, Draped in American Flag.

Statesville, N. C., September 5.—With the casket draped in an American flag and resting on chairs in the little home, John P. Speaks, of Union Grove township, near here, refuses to bury the body of his son, Thomas B. Speaks, who was killed in action in France on October 4, 1918, and whose body arrived here on August 13.

Following the arrival of the body the father, to satisfy himself that the casket contained the remains of his son, had the casket opened. Mr. Speaks identified the skeleton as that of his son by the shape of the teeth and dental work with which he was familiar.

The coffin was then sealed and placed in the little home. When the county welfare officer and the sheriff of Iredell county visited the Speaks home Saturday to ascertain if it was unsanitary to keep the casket in the house, Mr. Speaks told them he did not want to bury the body unless he had to.

"I prefer to fix a place in or near the house," Mr. Speaks is quoted as having said, "and keep him until I am dead and have his bones buried with me."

An action has been taken by the county authorities to force Mr. Speaks to bury the body.

representation at the opening of the assembly than any other country in the world, excepting Switzerland, but it was in the galleries. The secretariat of the league had been besieged with requests from Americans visiting Switzerland for cards of admissions but could grant only thirty-five, of which only five were present as unofficial observers. They were Edward Cummings, secretary of the Carnegie peace foundation, and Judge George W. Anderson, of Boston.

Prominent Americans.

Other prominent Americans present were David Jayne Hill, former ambassador to Germany; Frank A. Vanderlip, Miss Jane Adams and former Congressman Charles G. Washburn, of Massachusetts.

This large American attendance created favorable comment among the delegates.

Dr. Koo reflected the general feeling when he said that the assembly not having to start at the beginning would be able to get through its work quicker than last year. There was an impressive silence when the secretary reached Argentina on the roll call and inquiring glances were exchanged when Panama, Haiti, Honduras and Guatemala failed to respond to their names.

President Van Karnebeek made a brief speech of thanks after his election, saying it was a great honor to Holland. He declared the league would succeed only if it had the cooperation of the big men and leading statesmen who were not able to spare the time necessary for long sessions of the assembly.

KRYPTOK

BIFOCALS

WHAT ARE KRYPTOK BIFOCALS?

They are a combination of glass, allowing you to see both near and far with one solid glass. No removing your reading glass to see distant objects; no seams, lines or blisters to worry you or attract attention of others to your age. Absolutely invisible while on the face, they have proven a revelation to thousands who have come to us for them. Why are we successful with Kryptoks? Because we are extremely careful in the examination of your eyes, the correct grinding of the glass, and perfect adjustment of frames to each individual face, all of which is absolutely necessary to insure comfort and appearance. If you have Kryptoks bought elsewhere and cannot use them, bring them to us and we will find the trouble. Ask the better oculists or any of our patients what the Ballard service is to the public.

What Every Retailer Needs

A Way to Get Better Records at Lower Cost

Why are prompt and accurate figure records so important in retail business?

Because in successful retailing time is everything.

You can't check up your business figures once a month and expect to "get by." Even once a week is taking a big chance. You ought to know every day.

You must buy today, sell tomorrow; take a small profit and turn it over quickly.

You can't carry unsalable stock, long credits, slow collections, or any unnecessary expense in retail business as it is run today.

You want to know every day the essential facts about how your business stands.

Hard to get? No, easy and economical, if you do the work on a Burroughs Machine.

It will quickly give you the totals for charge sales, cash sales, bank deposits, additions to stock, goods on hand, charge accounts, overhead expense and profits.

The Burroughs Machine is easy to buy on the installment plan. It will pay for itself as it goes along—usually does it in error-prevention alone.

Let our representative show you how other merchants are getting real profits out of their Burroughs Adding, Bookkeeping or Calculating Machines, besides having a lot more daily brass-tack figure information that is invaluable.

If you're not satisfied the machine will pay its way we don't want you to take it. Call us on the telephone—you can't lose and may gain a great deal.

The following is the faculty for the coming year: J. M. Thrash, principal; J. M. Branson, mathematics, shop and superintendent boys' dormitory; J. Millican, agriculture; A. S. Bussey, agriculture, science and commandant; Miss Virginia Newton, history and English; Miss Blamie Carter, domestic arts and science; Miss Ethel Wilkerson, piano, voice and expression; Mrs. M. Weaver, matron; Miss Alma Newton, secretary and librarian.

Savannah Physician Injured When Car Is Struck by Truck

Savannah, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—To be kicked and have an arm broken by the crank of a Ford or even to be knocked down and run over by a machine in gear, is a common enough accident, but to be knocked down, run over and painfully injured by his own Ford which was standing with engine dead and gears helpless, was the unusual experience of Dr. A. Lasse here last night.

Going around behind his car to see if he had gas, a truck came bowling along in front, struck the Ford, started it backward—the machine knocking down and running over the doctor, who is in alcohol hospital, seriously but not necessarily fatally hurt.

Perfect Justice Cure for All Ills, Says Will Hays

St. Louis, September 5.—Economic difficulties and industrial problems which now seem serious can be and will be solved in only one way and that is by finding exact justice and enforcing it. Postmaster General Hays declared here today in a Labor day address before the annual convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

"Every problem is solvable," Mr. Hays asserted. "We must live and help live in America. The labor of the country constitutes its strength and its wealth. It is the country's greatest asset and is entitled to and must receive fair representation in all the councils of the nation. The better that labor is conditioned, the higher its reward and the wider its opportunities and the greater its comforts and refinements, the better will be our civilization and safer will be our government, the more secured our homes."

For myself, I am convinced that the true solution of the questions arising between labor and capital lies in an awakened public conscience, in a thorough inculcation of the spirit of a fair deal—among men, then in organization and in wise humane leadership and in the establishment of boards of conciliation or arbitration which are absolutely free from the polluting touch of selfish interests or political demagogues, to which the interests concerned may freely and confidentially appeal.

"I believe, too, that we must develop a reasonable method for honest and efficient labor to have an opportunity to acquire an interest in the business to which it is expected to give its best efforts. Pending this development, the equilibrium between production and wages must be established and maintained and there must be justice for all—exact justice for labor, exact justice for capital and exact justice for the public. The third side of the triangle which, of course, must never be lost sight of."

Mr. Hays' speech was devoted largely to affairs of the postoffice department and to his "900,000 partners" in the service, of whom he said there are "no better set of men and women in the world."

LARGE PECAN CROP EXPECTED IN MONROE

Juliette, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Indications are that the pecan crop of Monroe county this season will be the largest on record. It is reported that the trees in every section of the county are heavily loaded with fruit of a better quality than ever before.

The crop last year was short, but this year the growers have sprayed their trees in accordance with the suggestion of J. B. Demore, agent of the United States department of agriculture at Thomasville, to rid the trees of the insect pest which did heavy damage last season. The pecan industry is receiving considerable attention in Monroe and nearby counties, thousands of trees having been set out during the past several years.

RED CROSS LIFE SAVING CORPS CLOSE SEASON AT TYBEE

Savannah, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Closing its active season at the resorts—Tybee and Isle of Hope—the local Red Cross life-saving corps has made an enviable record this year. During their work voluntarily and without pay, they have given thirty-one days of service, Saturdays, Sundays and holiday occasions. On every day except two they served they had occasion to do rescue or restoration work among swimmers and bathers. On more than half a dozen days having two or three such cases to attend, in addition they have staged swimming races—defeating Charleston—and given demonstrations of life-saving work. They are now two days a week teaching children and adults to swim at the newly opened ten-acre municipal pool at Baffin park, which is visited by thousands daily.

Additional Officials Asked to Enforce Law in Manchester

Manchester, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—A citizens' meeting was held in this city this afternoon which was attended by Charles L. Davis, chairman of the board of roads and revenue of Meriwether county; J. B. Jarrell, sheriff; J. F. Hatchett, solicitor of the city county of Greenville. The object of the meeting was to call on the county authorities to furnish more deputies for duty in Manchester for the purpose of protecting the property and maintaining peace in this city.

The meeting was called as the result of the burning of several residences in this city in the past few days which are rumored to have been of an incendiary origin. Two of the residences in which the present employees of the A. B. & A. Railroad company lived being burned Friday night.

Schools Consolidated.

Juliette, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—The Monroe county board of education has consolidated the shine and Cabanias high schools, located several miles from Juliette, the school at Cabanias being retained. The consolidated school is one of the largest in the county and it is probable that a new school building will be erected at an early date. The board declined a petition to consolidate the Rogers and Syas schools. An important action of the board was the ruling that all pupils below the eighth grade would be required to attend a school in their own district unless permission was granted to attend school elsewhere.

Pace Withdraws.

Americus, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Stephen Pace, formerly Sumter's representative in the lower house of the Georgia general assembly, has withdrawn from the law firm of Hixon & Pace here and established his offices in the new Rylander building. Judge Hixon will continue to occupy the offices of the former law firm. Mr. Pace, it is said, will be a candidate for state senator next year, when Sumter will furnish the senator under the rotation plan.

Hardings Cancel Labor Day Visit To Atlantic City

Washington, September 5.—The Mayflower with President Harding and a party aboard, after remaining at anchor in Hampton Roads for more than four hours, left for Washington at 8:30 o'clock, according to a wireless message received here. It is expected to reach here tomorrow forenoon.

HEAVY SEAS FORBID LANDING.

Atlantic City, N. J., September 5.—Definite information was received here this afternoon that President Harding and his party would not put in at Atlantic City because of the heavy seas. The information came in a wireless dispatch from the Mayflower. It added the president and his party were proceeding to Washington by way of Hampton Roads.

A message did not give the location of the Mayflower, but said it was expected the president would arrive in Washington shortly before noon tomorrow.

Reservations had been made at a leading hotel for the president and his party by George B. Christian, the chief executive's secretary, who had charge of the party. Mr. Christian, who is a resident of Marion, Ohio, had arranged to have the party stay at the Mayflower. The reception committee including Fred W. Graham, treasurer of the republicans; United States Senators Johnson, of California, and Hitchcock, of Nebraska, and Alexander P. Moore, Pittsburgh publisher.

News of the president's decision not to visit the resort was a disappointment to the large crowds of Labor day visitors who gathered along the beach and boardwalk for the first glimpse of the Mayflower.

A stiff northeast wind has been blowing off the Jersey coast since early last night when it became known the president hoped to spend Labor day here. It was feared, however, the Mayflower, because of her eighteen-foot draft, would not be able to make a landing and preparations were made to send out the submarine chaser 71 to take off the distinguished passengers and bring them to the city wharf.

No word was received from the Mayflower until the message today, and it is assumed the skipper decided the seas were too rough to attempt a transfer of the presidential party.

Diversified Program Planned for the Third District A. & M. School

Americus, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Beef, biscuit, butter and eggs are to be added to hog and poultry in the menu at the Third District Agricultural and Mechanical college here this fall. All of the products will come from the school farm of 160 acres.

John M. France, principal of the institution, already has about 200 purebred sows, but is advertising for 100 hens for fall layers to provide table eggs. There is stored in the school barns sufficient corn and wheat to provide bread and biscuit for the large number of students expected to enroll, with more than 100 hogs grazing in the fields to furnish pork.

There are besides about 25 young cattle, which will furnish sufficient beef for table use, and a number of fine milk cows to produce milk and butter for the students. During the summer short course a quantity of fresh vegetables, soups, and breads were served to students attending, and this will also be available for the college dining room.

Two Unmasked Men Succeed in Hold-Up Near Police Station

Tampa, Fla., September 5.—Following close upon Saturday's attempt to holdup a cigar factory paymaster's car, two unmasked handits today upbraid V. J. Jones, of Knoxville, Tenn., and robbed him of $540. The holdup was staged within two blocks of the central police station.

The garment workers had a float which showed the workers sewing at their machines. The meat cutters had a butcher shop and several butchers, in their white aprons, tossed welter sandwiches to the crowds as souvenirs.

At Lakewood Park. Festivities opened at Lakewood even before the downtown parade began. Shortly after 5 o'clock the various amusement devices began the day's business. The roller coaster as usual attracted a many of job-seekers. Several bands kept the grounds enlivened with music. At noon a big barbecue was served on the sylvan terrace.

After the athletic events in the afternoon a program of free moving pictures was shown. The big dance hall was the scene of a ball which did not conclude until midnight. Following the moving pictures came the exhibition of fireworks, the prettiest seen at the park since the 1920 fair.

SPRINGFIELD

TIRES

WE have seldom indulged in superlatives. Kelly quality has been so well established that it hasn't been necessary. Today, Kellys are better than ever, but their price has been materially lowered. Exhaustion of war-priced material and economies made possible in the new Cumberland Plant have brought down costs and this saving is being passed along to the user.

Now you can buy Kellys for the same prices you will have to pay for other tires that have always sold for less.

Kelly Cords are made in two types: the Kant-Slip Tread which offers a resistance to wet, slippery streets that makes skidding next to impossible, and the sturdy Block and Button Tread. Both are long mileage tires and sell for the same price.

become a part of Atlanta at this time.

It is to be hoped that the decision will be affirmative.

Kirkwood, to a greater extent than Atlanta, will be the loser if it is not.

No adjoining territory was ever annexed to Atlanta without experiencing immediate and lasting benefit.

No better illustration of this is afforded than in the case of West End, which was annexed to Atlanta some years ago.

With the extension of the public facilities of Atlanta—which West End could not possibly have provided as liberally as furnished by annexation, the growth of what was the corporate municipality of West End has perhaps been more rapid than that of any other part of the city in the same period of time.

Before West End came in the same argument was used against annexation as is now being employed by the anti-annexationists in Kirkwood—that is, that the community could do better for itself than would or could be done
for it after it had merged itself with Atlanta.

That argument has been overwhelmingly disproven in the case of West End, just as it will be in the case of Kirkwood if that municipality votes in favor of annexation.

Atlanta has just approved a $8,500,000 bond issue for municipal improvements, of which amount Kirkwood, if annexed, would receive its proportionate part of the benefits.

The opponents of annexation have adopted as one of their slogans, "Kirkwood—a Home for Home-Lovers." That is exactly what Kirkwood—a suburb of 3,100 inhabitants—should be, and that is what it can the better be by becoming a part of Atlanta, for unquestionably it can get from Atlanta facilities that it can never obtain otherwise.

From every standpoint the municipality would be benefited by annexation.

The legislature has put the matter squarely up to the people of Kirkwood, a majority of the votes cast at the election being all that is necessary to make that community a part of Atlanta.

Kirkwood has much more to lose than Atlanta on the outcome of the vote.

HELP FOR THE JOBLESS.

Savannah has taken hold of the unemployment situation in a spirit which gives promise of substantial results.

Instead of contenting itself with bemoaning the fact that many of its good citizens and bread-winners are out of work as a consequence of the dullness of the times, the city administration has undertaken to sponsor a one-week campaign devoted to finding jobs
for the jobless.

The period, which is to begin next Monday, is to be officially designated "Employment Week," during which, according to the press announcement of the plan,
"every citizen so far as possible
will either give some unemployed person work for a week or longer
or personally aid some unemployed
one to get a job."

The ministers of the city have promised to call attention to the movement from their pulpits, and practically every Savannah civic organization and citizens in all walks of life have pledged their co-operation.

"Every stimulation possible,"
says the announcement—

"to create work, speed up construction and repair work and enterprises that will give employment to skilled and unskilled labor will be used to make the week a success."

This is constructive work—work
that means something.

Even if it has no other effect
than to demonstrate the interest
the city government feels in the personal welfare of its citizens,
the effort will be well worth while.

It may be that Savannah was prompted to stage an "Employment Week" by the success of
"Pay-Up Week," which was promoted by the Rotary club in that city a few years ago.

At that time everybody was urged to meet his monetary obligations to everybody else within the city—or at least to pay all that he could of what he owed.

The method of procedure was for Smith to pay his debt to Brown; Brown to pay Jones, who,
in turn, would thus be enabled to pay what he owed to Smith.

By this means the personal indebtedness in Savannah was reduced by hundreds of thousands of dollars without a dollar of the money leaving the city.

It had a wonderful effect, not only of getting money into circulation and "loosening up" business in Savannah, but in enhancing business fellowship and the community spirit of the city.

The proposed "Employment Week" undoubtedly will serve the same general purpose.

WORTH TRYING.

The Constitution is in receipt of a communication in which the correspondent suggests federal aid for would-be home-builders as a solution, at least in part, of the house-shortage, unemployment and other related problems, and also as a means of putting hoarded money into circulation and stimulating business in general.

"Many plans have been suggested," writes this correspondent,
who, for reasons of his own, requests that his name be not published—

"whereby the unemployment situation might be relieved. Here is my suggestion: An act, or an amendment to the farm loan act, whereby the home-builder of the city or town might have the same privilege of borrowing on reasonably long terms
as the farmer has.

"Where a law in effect under which a man with, say, $2,000 could borrow another $1,000 from the government and give a first mortgage on the home which he would build with the money there would be such a building boom as the world has never seen.

"From one end of the country to the other there is a shortage of homes. There are millions untold being carried by the banks. These mortgages could be transferred to the government and these idle millions be released for other business.

"The good such an act would do
would be hard to estimate.

"It would release untold millions
now being carried by bankers.

"It would put an army of unemployed men to work.

"It would create a ready market for all kinds of building material.

"It would create a ready market for real estate.

"It would solve the never-ending question of housing."

The government very properly
aids the farmer in acquiring ready cash with which to finance his operations, and it very properly extends credit on stocks of merchandise.

It would be equally within its province, and certainly as helpful to society in general, for it to help those whose chief assets are their industry, their character and their will to be good citizens, to provide homes of their own.

If there is any class of citizens deserving of special consideration of their government it is that composed of the producers, who are without their own homes, but who are ready and willing to make any reasonable sacrifice to enable them to own the shelter of their family.

By the provisions of a commendable act of congress, water power is considered worthy collateral for federal assistance.

Surely, water power is not preferable to man power; nor is hydro-electric development more essential to the government than character development, and the development of good citizenship—
which essentially go hand in hand with home-ownership!

The government has helped thousands of poor men to build homes and become independent and prosperous in the irrigated districts of the west.

Why should it not do as much
for any man in city or country, who wants a home, is willing to work and pay for it, principal and interest, and the title to which will not leave the government until the loan is liquidated, thus securing the advance?

Other countries do this.

Why not the United States?

A Georgia Philosopher.
(From The Swainsboro Forest Blade).

It is a strange thing to us how some men who don't know how to set a goose, know so much about running a newspaper. They can tell us every week just where we have made a mistake—what we printed that we should not, and what we left unsaid that we should have said. Funny old world!

Some men are raising families who are not capable of raising crows and peas. Before a man attempts to raise a child he should at least know how to raise something to feed it with.

If you are not going to be a live
one, they might just as well bury you and get you out of the way of those who are willing to move around a bit.

The House-Hunter.

I.
Winter, in his far place,
Saw the sky a-gettin' dim,
And so he sent the cold Wind
To find a house for him.
And the cold Wind that he sent Offered jewels for the rent.

II.
But the House Men said: "His jewels
Look fine on tree and wall,
But they'd vanish in a sunbeam,
And we'd lose the rent and all!"
Said Winter: "Since that song
they sing,
I'll take house, land, and everything!"

When the Black Hen Crows.
(From The Cross Country (Ark.) Democrat.)

Monday morning a delegation of negroes from the Graham farm came into the Democrat office and reported a strange coincidence, to say the least of it. They say that several of them were leaving the house of Bell Woods to attend a funeral, when a black hen ran from under the house out into a drove of small chickens and crowed three times, and the chickens all instantly dropped dead. The negroes say the chowing three times of a black hen on the first Sunday after the dark of the moon in August is a certain sign of a great calamity.

They attribute the whole trouble to the fact that Bell Woods had a hen to thus crow last year and did not kill the hen.

At the same time these reports have been carried about making each man more alarmed, the deposits in our savings banks have steadily increased, until today the savings banks in Atlanta have on deposit perhaps more money than anywhere else in the south, and the fear of some indescribable thing that may happen, the small investments in the south are being withdrawn, and the deposits there don't compare with what this money would have been properly invested. The depositor, in many cases, is paying an enormous rent on the money he is depositing, and if he would go ahead, invest this money in a home of his own, his thousand dollars would be worth more than the interest he is existing.

Let us consider the many good reasons for a general spirit of optimism, and of success. We have weathered the storm and people generally have been benefited, because they have learned more economy and more thrift, and have studied their affairs more carefully than heretofore; many kinds of waste
have been eliminated; all of us have become more business-like; progress has been made in many lines of industry and effort have found improved methods. Due to the necessity that has existed.

President Wilson said that if Asian from the war had been taught to save, its cost would be repaid. We have learned our lesson, and now that times are easier, and our cotton section is being taught to ready to go, with the present
good price, with much better right
than we have had, we can pay good prices. Let each of us carefully analyze our present position with reference to the war, and see if we can't find something to be thankful for. Most of us will be benefited by making this comparison, and will see that the best thing we can do for ourselves and our neighbors is to go right ahead with our plans, realizing that our country is the best in the world, and that our condition is really much better and sounder
than it ever was during the excited period.

Here's hoping for a more general realization of the good times that have returned.

Wants to Know
About Cotton Seed

Editor Constitution: A great deal
has been said about the low price,
and the shortage of the cotton crop,
but nothing has been said about the low prices of cotton seed.

The farmer that is forced to sell seed at the present prices, viz., $25
per ton, is simply giving away $15 per ton.

When cotton seed oil was quoted in New York at 3 3/4 cents, cotton seed sold all over the south at $20 per ton; today, oil is quoted in New York at 7 cents and seed is only bringing $15 per ton.

I feel, in justice to the farmer,
that some explanation should be made by the oil mills, or the price
should advance.

Harding Popular After Six Months In Highest Place

Country, However, Withholds Judgment Pending End of Big Issues.

BY ROBERT J. BENDER, United News Staff Correspondent, Washington, September 5.—The first six months of President Harding's administration is more a story of the development of the man than it is a chronicle of legislative achievements.

Harding, emerging from comparative obscurity, which might find a near-parallel in the case of Grover Cleveland, was suddenly precipitated into the highest office of the land. It was natural, therefore, that the people of the country, business men, farmers and all other classes, were first interested in the man himself. Harding's efforts to acquire trust with his new executive have been highly successful. There is no questioning his widespread personal popularity today.

WORK OF ROTARY IN 8TH DISTRICT TO BE DESCRIBED

FUNERAL OF VICTIM OF CAR ACCIDENT TO BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for Johnnie Jean, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Baine, of 277 Luckie street, who was killed Sunday morning by being crushed beneath the wheels of an East Lake street car at Oakhurst, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning, from the residence, with burial in North View cemetery.

It was stated Monday that the lad was an orphan, who sold newspapers, and had no permanent home. This report was incorrect, for the boy has lived with his parents all of his life. Much of his time was spent in the physical culture classes at the Y. M. C. A.

The fatal accident occurred about 10 o'clock Sunday morning, when Jean was riding on the rear of a motorcycle at a sharp turn on the North Decatur car line. In attempting to avoid a collision with the oncoming car, the driver of the motorcycle turned too quickly, hurling the lad beneath the wheels of the car. The driver of the motorcycle was Philip Langley, of 3 Hayden street, who escaped serious injury.

He will go to Touraine province to rest for three weeks, and will then sail for the United States. His home is in Uniontown, Ala.

Many Diversions

This, too, explains why Harding indulges in more diversions, perhaps, than any executive the white house has ever known. With the possible exception of Taft, his little week-end trips, his almost daily golf, his several vacations, his frequent social calls about the city in the evening—permitting of more hours of relaxation during his first six months perhaps than Wilson enjoyed in any single year of his term—can all be attributed to his confidence in his cabinet and the authority he has delegated them to act.

Harding is enjoying his office. He looks fitter than when he entered the white house. He feels so good he even protests against the steel General Sawyer, his personal physician, who is constantly prescribing, "Sawyer, I'm tired sleeping and I'm not going to sleep any more today," the president said recently when Sawyer thought he was over-doing a bit.

Former British Diplomat Lauds Atlanta Climate

Roland Bryce, Nephew of Viscount James Bryce, Here on Short Visit.

Roland Bryce, nephew of Viscount James Bryce, author of "The American Commonwealth," and for six years British ambassador to the United States, arrived in Atlanta Monday morning for a short visit. While here he is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Troup Howard, of 37 Oakdale road. He was honor guest at a luncheon Monday noon at Druid Hills golf club. Present were Mrs. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Ulric Atkinson and Mr. and Mrs. Chesley Howard.

"I am enchanted with the south," said Mr. Bryce in an interview with The Constitution Monday afternoon as he was playing golf. "I like the people, the country and the climate here, especially that of Atlanta. I have visited America three times, and although I have always wished to see the south, this is the first time I have had the opportunity."

"I am not in a position to comment on the cotton question," said in answer to an inquiry from Lee Ashcraft, president of the Georgia Cotton Association, who was in a golf foursome. "I am interested in cotton, for I was in the cotton business in the West Indies, but it would not be politic to say anything on British trade with the south, while conditions are so unsettled."

Diplomatic Service

Mr. Bryce, whose father is Scotch and whose mother is Irish, was born in London and has given the major portion of his life to the British diplomatic service in which he has retired recently. For a year following the armistice, he was a member of the British mission in Hungary. The vote of the plebiscite gave Klagenfurt to Hungary. In 1918, he was with the corps at Montenegro. "Although conditions in Jugoslavia are getting better every day," said Mr. Bryce, "they are not yet normal. Trade relations between that country and Austria are amicable, as are relations in general between Jugoslavia and Italy."

He believes that the Greeks will win out in their struggle with the Turks, and said that the former are receiving no aid in the struggle from the allies.

Stomach and Liver Trouble

He stated that it would be impossible to discuss the English-Irish difficulty at present, but was optimistic as regards an amicable settlement. Asked to compare Americans and Europeans, he declared that some Americans are as phlegmatic as the English, "while others are as volatile as the most erratic French of the time. After each meal I was for King George V. and the queen, and stated that their democratic conduct was strengthening their position with the people. He would not discuss the Premier Lloyd-George, nor possible change in the British ministry.

Franklin Officials Come to Atlanta On Long Test Trip

Ralph Murphy, assistant general manager of the Franklin Automobile company of Syracuse, N. Y., accompanied by Paul Williams, assistant engineer, and E. S. Marks, assistant engineer, arrived in Atlanta Monday on the last leg of a 12,000-mile Franklin test run. A Franklin sedan and touring car are being driven over the entire United States, over all kinds of roads and under all conditions. Mr. Murphy stated that the purpose of the run is not only to give the Franklin cars a thorough test, but to have factory engineers and officials see the country and the party owners operate their cars. The cars as they reached Atlanta looked little worse for the more than ten thousand miles that they have been driven, and the party apparently was no worse for the long drive.

"Built Like a Skyscraper"

The party leaving Syracuse drove across the continent to the north-west coast, to Arizona, thence across to Atlanta. From Atlanta they will return up the Atlantic coast to the factory.

Officials asserted that at present the prohibition enforcement bureau has no accurate information as to how many outstanding permits are in force, or being used for illegal purposes. By taking up each individual permit in the light of an original application, however, officials hope to limit the prohibition bureau's authorizations considerably and confine them wholly to the purposes defined by the national prohibition act.

Wilson and Downey Pull Cheese

Fight for Rickard's Title Can

Booed Continuously by 40,000 Fans—Neither Fighter Shows Title Stuff

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER,
United News Staff Correspondent.
Boykes Thirty Acres, Jersey City,
N. J., September 5.—The fragrance of cheese hangs heavy over these notorious acres polluting the night
mists blown from the salt meadows of the Jersey shore. The stinky cheese, the kind they keep under a glass globe.

This strange odor became noticeable
about 3:30 Monday afternoon
when Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion of the world, came down
the ramp from his dressing room
to defend his solid pig-iron title against Bryan Downey, of Cleve-

Wilson became worse the minute that he saw his timid, gait of a hen-pecked husband driving home at 3 a. m., advanced to take a cuff on the chin from Downey. It was just a wild swipe, without any address on the label, but it happened to push the couple of Johnny's whiskers and that scared him. So he dogged it through that round. As the fight went on Wilson discovered that Downey was an even weight against himself—thus coming a brand new revelation—and went into the cuffing profession in a small way on his own account.

Wilson Retains Title.

This Johnny Wilson is a barrel-chested, heavy-muscled Italian with cold, slate-gray eyes set one on each side of a nose like a seven-toed foot.

Bryan Downey is similarly built with a round, ruddy face and happy blue eyes and close-clipped curly hair, who cocks his right hand back and swings like a pendulum. He and swings like a saloon door on a hinge one day at night in the old days of the underworld.

No two fighters have picked more razzberries in one pretender, plucked from the crowd, they staggered and flogged and floundered through their twelve terrible rounds here—a Labor day champion's fight. The upshot of it was that the Jersey boxing commission ordered Tom Rickard to hold up Wilson's end of the money, Downey apparently is to get his purse, being considered merely an accessory to the speculation. The Wilson prize is being detained pending an investigation to determine what made the bout so awful.

40,000 Fans Fooled.

about 40,000 on a 57,000-capacity admission scale. But the double went into the place with their eyes open for the same two fighters put on a scandal in their Cleveland hometown fight. Downey seems to have been exculpated as to that.

It was promising in the first round when Downey got Wilson on the ropes and shot in a left to the body, a right to the jaw and a right wing to the head. But when he came back he poked a right and left to the body, managing to keep them above the belt, no considerable feat for him, and that's about all there was in the round. Downey won it, if anyone.

Starting the second, Wilson nulliin that cargo boom of a right arm and cocked his fist against his chest, a change in what might be called under-punctuated, lightning style. Downey now began to miss with those right-handers and Wilson was pecking at his body, both boys were to blame for this round so it will be called even. After the fight which was Downey's, the incredible truth dawned on Wilson that there was a guy he couldn't even fight as well as himself, so he took the fourth, fifth, and sixth rounds by a passive procedure, leaving it to Downey to lose those rounds by missing with his fist.

Wilson Grows Worse.

Wilson's wolfish grin. Downey, the eighth man, but who was tenth by smashing the Old Timer back on the jaw with a left hand pitched clear from the floor. For an instant the wind changed, and a tremendous applause weakened. It looked as though this might be the fight from here to the finish. But Downey swooned into Wilson's arms and nestled there till his head cooled, being soothed by soft, tender lips. The fight was over. Downey was slow, tame and rotten, and twelve seemed to be Wilson's, to split hair.

The commission announced that Downey would be held to determine how come. But the plain conclusion is that Johnny Wilson, the champion of the world, just doesn't know how. A belligerent cook pulled him away the rolling pin, and told him to get the first wallop and use him out of the kitchen. Mike McGuire outslammed Panama Joe Gans, the negro middleweight champion in another 12-round technicals which was half so bad. McGuire may now claim the cold championship belt. Johnny Buff, the flyweight champion of America, knocked out James Russell, of Harrisburg. Pan Russell is a good fighter and came as a mauler but he absorbed punches until saturated with punishment and then went down.

WILSON'S PART OF PURSE.

weight champion after going ough twelve rounds with Bryan

Immediately after the bout it was
